

TESTIMONIALS

"There's no point in making history if you don't tell anyone! Represent certainly told the world through their media contacts which are second to none."

Martin Tangney, Founder

"Represent challenged our messaging and crafted compelling pillars of communication that brought to life the Society's success in the ongoing delivery of our charitable remit. Represent is a valued partner to the Society."

Alan Laidlaw, RHASS chief executive

"This was a text-book exercise in gaining media engagement and coverage, enabling the research findings to be consumed by a far greater audience than would normally be the case when research is published."

Represent really showed how they understand Smart Data Foundry and what we stand for, pitching to the relevant media and getting great results. This is a blueprint for how we work with Represent to get great results."

, Head of Marketing & Communication

"Represent has completely changed our lead generation process and hugely taken the pressure off. We are now getting regular sign ups and no longer rely on word-of-mouth or cold calling. The team are fantastic to work with – they understand our business & objectives and have implemented a strategy that far exceeded my expectations. I would not hesitate to recommend them"

Principal of Chippendale School

Represent very quickly understood our target market, our sales and marketing challenges and our USPs before devising and implementing a strategy that delivered both profile for the business and leadership team, as well as qualified leads for our sales team. They are great to work with – proactive, professional, and approachable and I would highly recommend them to any business looking to generate awareness and ultimately, sales.
